“To Know Him and To Make Him Known.”

Matthew 5:16

“Let your light shine before men so that they may see your good works and glorify your Father in Heaven”

A Frame In Time

There are many things that happen in our lives. Things that we think of and things that we don't. However, there are some moments in our lives that are captured in a "frame." Sort of like a photo from a ball game. There are lots of things that happened there, but there are only a few moments caught on film that will define that particular game.

In life we remember certain frames in people's lives, and it is by this that we define our view of who that person is. If we see someone do great things we generally think of them as a great person. If we see a person fall we define them by that. As Christians the world is watching us to see how we live.

They want to see our religion lived out. We need to be conscious that as we live our lives every moment is lived so that if a picture were taken of that moment the world could see Christ through our lives in that Frame In Time.

No one can see my master
But By My Spirit, with the power of the Spirit of Jesus
John 3:10

Dear Class of 2002,

If you and I had been walking with Jesus on the streets of Manhattan last summer, quite probably one of seeing the two towers of the World Trade Center above - would have exclaimed: "Look! What buildings! What magnificent architecture!" And in response to this, our omniscient Lord might have said, "Do you see these great buildings? Not one cement block here will be left on another; the whole thing will be demolished!" And, we would have been astounded as the disciples of Christ were when they had a similar conversation with Jesus about the temple in Jerusalem (see Mark 13:2).

September 11, 2001 was a turning in time that none of us will ever forget. We were all shaken deeply and reminded of the evil of our fallen world. And, we were challenged anew with our Lord's unchanging commission to reach every person in every nation with the Gospel. This includes the over one billion people who adhere to Islam. I pray that all of you - through praying, giving, or going - will be used of God to penetrate the huge flock of unreached people with the message and love of Jesus.

Many nations around the world lost people in the tragic events on September 11, 2001, and once again, we were all made aware of the brevity and unpredictability of life. As you graduate, my prayer is that you will make every day count for eternity. I pray that you, like John the baptizer, will daily point people to the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world.

Yours for His glory,
George W. Murray
President

2002 Finial Dedication

Dr. Cooper always takes time to stop and spend time with students whether it is in her office, after class, or on the sidewalk. Many students get to know her through her classes, especially Bible for Teachers. However, she does not limit herself to only those she teaches.

As we sat down to choose this year's dedicatee there was one person who was mentioned by each person. As students in her class we were captivated by her love for students as individuals and her love for teaching by communicating knowledge of her discipline and God. Bible teaching major, Suzanne Foster said, "I get excited about studying and teaching the Bible just from listening to her! I think Dr. Cooper is a role model of what God can do through someone who is dedicated to knowing and obeying Him." For the past 17 years she has been more than available to her students. She is also a colleague and example to some, of what a professor should be. Steve Auld a colleague said if, "If you want to know what a CIU professor should look like, go knock on Dr. Cooper's office door or sit in her classes. What she teaches is the ethos of this institution - loving God with heart and mind. What she gives is an example of that love."

Not only is she dedicated to CIU, but she is also involved in her local church by teaching and being on the missions committee. This is a great place for her because she does have a love for communicating Christ in other cultures. She has taken her teaching skills, and love for people to the Ukraine where she taught Bible for Teachers. There has even been translation work done on her Bible for Teacher's class making it available to even more cultures.

It is for these reasons that the 2001-2002 Finial is dedicated to Dr. Anita Cooper.

To laugh much and often; to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of little children to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends; to appreciate beauty; to find the best in others; to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition to know even one life has breathed easier because you lived this is to have succeeded.

SENIOR SNEAK

Senior sneak is a weekend getaway for seniors. It gives them a chance to strengthen friendships and encourage one another as they complete the final leg of their college journey. It is a time to reflect on the past, yet also a time to focus and pray about the future. This year the class of 2002 traveled to Doe River Gorge Camp in Tennessee. While there they enjoyed activites from rock climbing to horseback riding. They shared in a team building sport by climbing and then jumping off a 32 foot pole. The seniors also enjoyed the beautiful view of the mountains and a waterfall at Elk River Falls. While at the waterfall, daring seniors jumped off the top. There were a few injuries due to this, but God was in control. He had the right people there at the right time. Thank God for all He does for us!

Grier Mangum balances on a 32 foot pole and attempts to grab a trappeeze bar. He did succeed.

While Karen Ellingson steals a kiss from Ronald McDonald, fellow seniors Jamie Hester, Anne Young, Krista Badger, and Elisabeth White pose with a McDonald's employee.

Jessic Hughes and Becky Moran socialize with the conductor before entrusting their lives to him on a train ride.

Compared to $1.44 gas prices in Columbia, finding gas for $.94 was a welcoming treat for traveling seniors on a CIU budget.

Having finished his first serving, Chris Mailliard reaches for seconds as Kristen Metzler and Grier Mangum finish off their first helpings.

Selena Pinkney, Susanne Nutall, and Elizabeth Clemmer cuddle up by the fire to keep warm.

WOOHOO...

THE SENIORS ARE SNEAKING...

"Clean" and happy, the seniors load up for a train ride up into the Tennessee mountains.

Grier and Tim demonstrate their handymanship by changing a light bulb in one of the girl's railcar bathrooms.

WHERE WILL THEY GO?

The seniors stop to get a group shot while enjoying the view from on top of the mountain.

Anne Young, Karen Ellingson, Liz Taylor, Krista Badger, and Elizabeth White goof off around the campfire.

John Hutto, Jason McCoy, Jacob Huss relax and enjoy the campfire wishing they had marshmallows, graham crackers and Hersheys bars to make smores.

WHAT WILL THEY DO?

Grier Mangum, Tim Owens, and Jake Jenson entertain themselves by playing hackysack while waiting for dinner.

Juniors

E V E N T S

Each year there are certain events that characterize CIU. These events are things that many people look forward to each year. They range from Women's Formal Open Dorms to Christmas with the President. Each event is different and has its own traditions. The events are for the students to set up, enjoy, and reach out to the community. It is a great opportunity for everyone to get involved in one way or another.

Cluster Girls in Black

Kristen Metzler, Anne Wingo, Liz White, Liz Coddington, Liz Taylor, and Jamie Hester

Women's Formal Open Dorms

Oh my! Watchout it's gonna explode!

Excuse me, do I have anything up my nose?

J. D. Meade, Anne Bogert, Rebecca Bogert, and Lauren Anderson play couch potatoe during open dorms.

Formal Open Dorms

I'm not sure, but I think this is the future outfit of the Taliban. It's modern, yet still covers everything.

Stephanie Shives and Julia McWilliams laugh at the trouble the guys will have cleaning up their hall after the night is over.

James Almond is absorbed in his character, and enjoying himself.

Jessica Reinicke, Noah George, and Dana Rosado all crowd into one seat trying to make room for all the many visitors that must be crammed into the small dorm room.

"Boy, these students really do ask us to do crazy things around here." (Charles Harrison and Kristie Harrick)

Heather Peeler, Amanda Sells, Holly Hendricks, Suzanne Foster, and Pam Groff planned ahead and brought a blanket to keep warm and double for a picnic.

"Did you see that? He just ate that whole hot dog and he doesn't even have a head." (Michelle Steenwyk and Nathan Aylestock)

Robert Martin and Rudy Alexeff stand over the grill in a desperate attempt to keep warm.

Kenneth Proffitt tries to keep order to the parking for the game by placing "friendly reminders" of legal parking spots located on campus. "Friendly reminder" or ticket they're all the same thing.

students enjoy coming early to relax and chat with friends before the night's events unfold.

Hmmm, How big can I cut this and get away with it?

North South Game.

As usual the North/South game was quiet the attraction. As it sounds, the game is between the northern students and southern students. The west coasters find this a little annoying. As tradition has it, the evening starts with a cookout at the field followed by the girl's game and ending with the guy's game. The games have developed into an unofficial homecoming for some of the more recent graduates. This is a time to stand true to your roots. Each side decides on a color and dresses accordingly the Friday before the game.

This year's outcome was disappointing to those from the "grits land" as the yankees took both the girl's and the guy's game.

You know, the pool is really getting high for the North. If I were you I really wouldn't bet on the South. Their practices didn't go very well.

Hey did you see that? When he yells his veins pop out.

North/ South Game

The South guys bow in prayer before heading out on the field.

Dave Christensen leads the guys to victory.

That face doesn't look mean enough to need a mouth guard.

What fun would the game be if it weren't for the commentators, Dr. Beyer, Josh Treece, and Rick Swift?

Jeffery Jackson warms up with a teammate. I hope he can throw farther than that.

Come on girls, give us a mean face.

There's nothing more encouraging than seeing Southerners pose together.

North

Melissa Foss brings a warm smile to the cold night.

Though CIU doesn't have a formal group of cheerleaders half-time entertainment is nonetheless provided.

Marcie Dorman braves the cold, while little Stewart is bundled from head to toe.

Being true Southern girls, Jen Smith and Meredith Ball serve grits during half-time.

2001 Alumni, Josh Kegg came back to man the drinks for the big game.

Julia McWilliams and Jess Hoffman cheer their fellow guys on to victory.

It doesn't really matter who you play for as long as you have American pride.

Susanna Barbee and Melody Davis show their true feelings.

Candy Apples

No, don't take the picture now. There's an apple stuck in my mouth.

Music

Adam Short does a little D.J.ing with some little friends.

Animals

Eeesh, did that really happen?

HARVEST FEST

A carriage ride is a must at Harvest Fest.

These guys don't look like they are giving up anytime soon.

Honey, you might embarrass her if you brush her in public.

What a day

With great decorations around campus on the weekend of Harvest Fest it's not hard to find a great place for pictures. However, if hay bails and pumpkins don't strike your fancy, you can always create your own props such as your friends.

Kathleen Olberg and Jarrod Ray brought a healthy meal to the Haitians who were looking for food and supplies at the dump and made a friend.

Karen Grant, Cathy Lieder, Courtney Williams, Becky Moran and Loretta Goddard learned how to kill, pluck and prepare chickens for dinner.

Jana Amelingmeier, the founder of Crossroads Ministries with Elena, a very young Christian who is very ill. As we ministered to her, she in return ministered to us.

Dominican Republic

January 8-18, 2002

Our trip was enriched through the hospitality Enrique Guitierrez Delgado, wife Bianca and children. Our hosts, teachers and friends in Boma.

Monica Tucker takes a break from one of the games during Children's Church to have a quiet moment with a young girl.

This experiential class, YOU 3888, is designed to be used by God to equip students with vision, passion and know how for short-term cross-cultural ministry. The students were involved in mission studies, worship, children's and youth ministry, evangelism and construction. The team lived and ministered in the remote mountain village of Boma.

Clean, clean, scrub, scrub...Opps, someone's taking a picture. I better smile.

Lee Morris, Natalie McCormack, Steven Love, and Barry Bouillion

Youth Ministries professor, Karren Grant and Becky Schmoyer do their time in the kitchen, a place with great need.

You have to have your ducks in a row to get anything done right.

Catch a load of this, CIU students hard at work or out for a ride in the truck.

You wouldn't believe how dirty the stairs can get. At least someone's willing to clean them.

Face masks can't hide the mischievous eyes of Kristie and Kandi.

Water break, after working hard everyone needs a break.

Work Day

A day to clean and repair what normally gets neglected around campus

Work day with the President. That's what the big event was called. It was a day for students, faculty, and staff to clean up some things around campus. There are many things that need to be done around campus the time or manpower simply is not there. This was the day for that. Volunteers worked from 8 in the morning until lunch. In that time they cleaned up the grounds, dorm kitchens, hallways, and anything else they found that needed to be done. As a result of their hard work everyone benefited from a campus that looked better than it did the day before.

Work Day

With the President and Mrs. Murray

Dr. Larry Wagnor and his family help to clean a kitchen in the dorms.

Lauren Metzler is ready to work with sponge and bucket in hand.

I wonder what she's trying to reach? (Claire Worthy)

Dawn Powell and Kendra Middleton check the stair case to make sure it's still sturdy enough to walk up and down.

It's a good thing Lindsay Hess doesn't have to identify everything she pulls out of the fridge.

Ann Zimmerman and Mrs. Murray take on the grizzly job of cleaning the fridge.

Wow, Did they cut down that whole tree by themselves?

Terrace Crawford and Bethany Goddard have nothing but smiles for the night's excitement.

See what my students taught me in class this morning?

Can you believe they're smiling for a picture at such a formal event?

I hate when the ice machine runs out of ice.

CIU Christmas is one event even the guys dress up for.

CHRISTMAS AT CIU

Once again the Ambassador Singers present a wonderful Christmas concert.

This sure beats cafeteria food. We should do this more often

Stephanie, stylin' as usual.

This is my favorite little ornament. You should get a picture of it.

Dr. Murray always draws in a crowd at Christmas as students anticipate what he'll do next.

We were afraid we'd miss something so we came just as we were.

Dressed for the occasion?

Hey, I don't see you dressed like the rest of us!

FOOD!! That's why we're here. Did you say something else is going on?

...and I'm going to get a pair of scissors.

Christmas with the President

I'm just so excited. I can't wait for it to start.

Our men are going to be so impressed. We spent 2 hours getting ready.

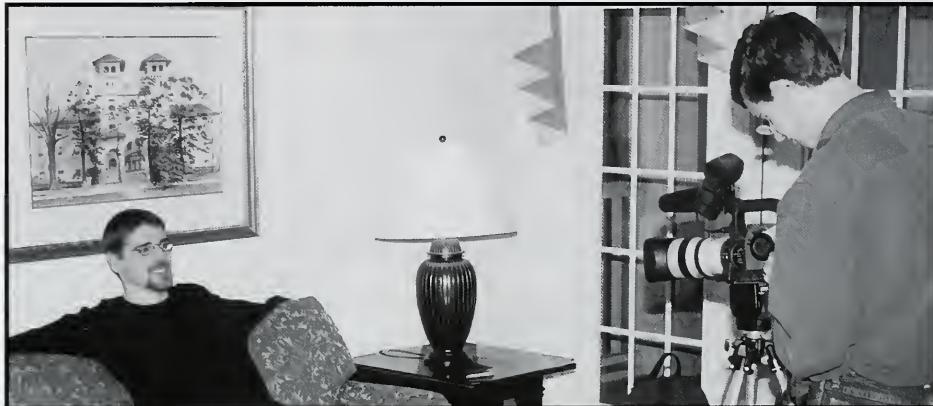

What is it?

This is the second year we have had Christmas with the President. It was started last year and everyone thoroughly enjoyed it so it was done again this year. One evening students are invited to come down to the student center in their pajamas. Dr. Murray is, obviously, the featured attraction. He tells Christmas stories, sings Christmas carols, and without a doubt makes everyone laugh. While the highlight of the night is normally seeing the President act like himself, it is also a time to realize the true meaning of Christmas.

Head Heart Hands

CIU's ethos of incorporating the "head" academic excellence, with the "heart" spiritual maturity lives in the "hands" or ministry that is practical and relevant to the student. As important as the "head" and "heart" is to the student, without the "hands" neither is important to God or his kingdom.

Ministry takes many forms, from field education, to evangelism, from DJJ to an campus cleanup, from sports teams to video, to 9/11 ministry in New York City, CIU students live ministry everyday.

Danielle Barnett, Esteban Cevallos, Courtney Makofsky and Juan Carlos Cevallos minister to children from Denny Terrace through sports.

Tim Williams shoots an interview with Alex Stewart. Together they are producing a video for the Student Senate.

New York

We sat in horror, watching the World Trade Centers fall to the ground and the United States was changed forever! CIU students, responding to the terrific need in New York, gathered together the opportunity to minister in a small way to New York. Working through a contact, Seminary professor, Bill Jones had in New York, 12 students set out for a week of ministry amidst chaos.

Passengers

MK Passengers is an organization consisting of missionary kids from around the world who have come to CIU to pursue their education. The purpose of "MK Passengers" is to help MK's transition from the field to the states and to use their vast experience from the mission to field expose CIU students about the opportunities and challenges that exist on the mission field.

MK Passengers officers are: Tim Wilson (MK from France) President, Charisse Zuch (MK from Austria) Activity Coordinator, Julie Crowe (MK from Portugal) Secretary, and John Lyle (MK from Taiwan) Prayer Coordinator.

Lisa North (MK from the Philippines), Amy Ropier (MK from South Africa and Germany), Tim Wilson and Patrick Weed, are all looking forward to dinner!

Student life is a big part of CIU. Most of the undergraduate students are required to live on campus. There are groups that coordinate things for the students to do. When there are not things planned students are pretty good at coming up with their own entertainment. The on campus housing is paired up into brother and sister halls. The idea is that they will be able to encourage their counter parts across campus. Generally, they will go on hall dates which are nothing more than a good time with good friends.

In Loving Memory

Pat Bradley

1936-2001

Pat Bradley, the "Mrs. B" of the Youth Ministries department, passed away Sunday afternoon, December 1, 2001. Pat's homegoing is both a blessing and a loss for those who knew her. Her deep love for her family was only eclipsed by her deep devotion and love for her Savior. Pat is survived by her husband, Steve, Director of the Field Education Department here at CIU and by her six sons, Peter, David, Mark, Paul, Philip and Matthew.

"I will miss her wonderful hugs, the way she talked about Steve and her love for everyone. She was such a beautiful woman of God."

Sarah Gaddard

"She was a real Christian. Even when times were hard, she just prayed about it and when on. She loved me enough to fuss at me. I loved her hugs and she made me laugh."

Becky Moran

Pat Bradley had an incredible ministry of "presence" to our youth ministry students. A godly woman, Pat modeled Jesus to all. Our Youth Ministry Offices were constantly packed with students and it was due to Mrs. Bradley's winsome welcoming spirit. We greatly miss her already. But now she is doing what she's been waiting a lifetime for, to be in the presence of Jesus.

David Olshine, Director of Youth Ministries

Pat was a godly woman with great discernment. She knew when people needed a hug, a prayer, or a kick in the pants. I consider the time I got to spend with Pat here on earth as a wonderful gift from God.

Karen Grant, Youth Ministry Faculty

Pat incarnated daily many of the central characteristics of a person who was under the influence of the risen Lord. We, who knew her, deeply loved and respected her. As well, we were drawn to the ONE she knew and loved so faithfully.

Hule Goddard, Youth Ministry Faculty

"Their marriage really inspires me. Because I am single, it really makes me want to strive for a great marriage like the Bradley's. I want my wife and I to be as good for each other as they are for each other."

Jash Chestnut

"I appreciate that no matter what, she was always so willing to help."

David Giovannetti

World Christian Week

The keynote speaker, Dr. Larry Gray is a former missionary with Evangelical Alliance Mission in Chad, Africa. There he helped train nationals so that they could further the Lord's work in their own country. He is presently the missions and outreach pastor for Calvary Chapel in St. Petersburg, Florida. Dr. Gray started the week off by sharing his testimony on how the Lord has brought him to where he is now in his life.

Dr. Gray takes time to chat with students after a chapel service.

World Christian weeks provides time to put school aside and focus on Christ.

Aaron Keyes lead the worship for WCW. He is the Worship leader at Cross Roads Community Church in Georgia.

It would not be a complete week without FOOD and fellowship. Students enjoy their time in the cafeteria without having the rush of getting to a class.

Sandy Wensley makes a few announcements before chapel begins.

Through image magnification (IMAG) the communication students brought the big picture home to students of WCW.

Students opened the weeks events with a drama to bring the week into perspective.

Mission boards had representatives on campus for the students to speak with all week about their board.

WCW is a time for many students to spend time in prayer over what the Lord has for their life in the future.

The student body spends time in praise and worship during the week.

PETTY and WEST 1

Mrs. Sarah Petty, which the dorm is named after, came to have lunch with the Petty girls. Petty 1 had her put on their hall shirts. Petty 2 took a Saturday to go visit with her.

Jess Hoffman enjoys a soft chewy cookie at the cookout held at the beginning of the year.

West 1 guys and Petty girls had a cookout at the beginning of the year. It was nice to enjoy a meal outside in the fall weather.

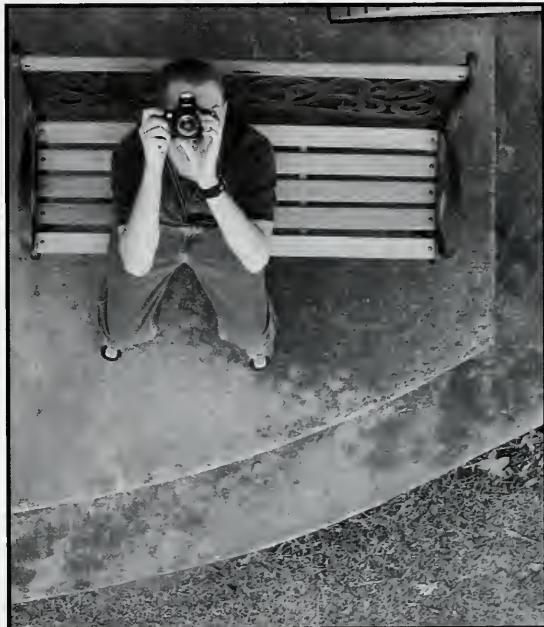

PETTY and WEST 1

You'd think these guys just found out they got a full scholarship. Actually, I think they just found out Petty was their sister hall.

Josh Treece caught taking a picture of the sky.

Lexi and Melody, Petty 2 residents known for their...Well, strange answering machine messages. These minds never stop thinking of new ideas.

Memorial 3 and Founders 3

The Memorial 3 guys crowd the hallway to get everyone in the photo.

Just hanging out in the hall is what they do best.

It took us forever to find sheet and pajamas that matched, but we did it. Now we are not only color coordinated, but pattern coordinated.

Memorial 3 and Founders 3

What a group of guys, goofy, fun and all around lovable.

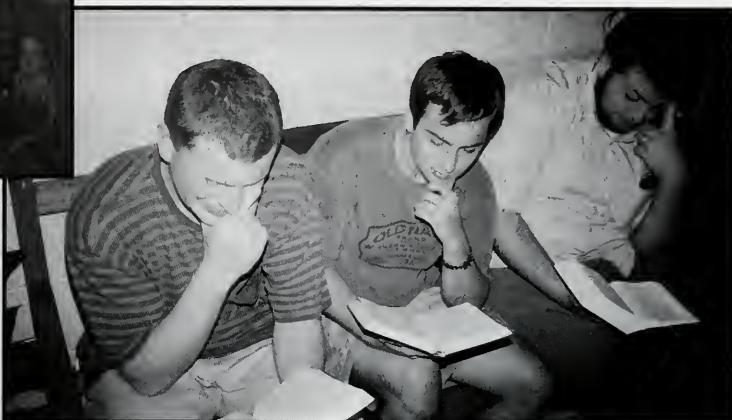

Memorial 2 and Founders 1 & 2

It is necessary to spend lots of time preparing for such an events as formal open dorms. This is just what the Founders women are doing. Don't they look gorgeous?

M 2 guys, Randy Curtis, J.D. Meade, and Chris Speaks try to figure out what their Greek Bibles say.

Lauren Anderson and Amanda Edom rolled their hall leader's room while she was away. It only took 2 roles to do the job.

East 2 , Clusters, and Walker 2

East 2 Guys, which would you choose?

Cluster girls all seem to love their personal space on campus even if that means they have to walk the dreaded stairs.

Having a kitchen as spacious as the clusters comes in handy for those who would rather cook than eat in the cafeteria.

West 2...

Walker 1 girls took off to Charleston for a beach trip earlier in the year.

Walker Basement...

Walker One randomly decided to have a "dress up" day. Since this is a rare thing for them, they had to document it with a photo.

Walker 1

Walker and West 2 had a Christmas party for one of their hall dates.

Married Students

Married students are an important part of the CIU family. They have the unique task of juggling classes, work, church, and family while they try to find time for a little bit of study. Students often pitch in and help watch the kids when possible.

What cute couples they make.

Many couples find chapel a time to stop and regroup from the day's activities.

The organizations and ministry teams are groups of students who are involved in the school and the community. The organizations help the student body life flow a little more easily. They often help the administration know what is going on in the student's world. The ministry teams are normally students doing their field education work by ministering to churches and other groups throughout the community by sharing God's love in a variety of ways.

Puppets with the Truth!

We are His Hands and we are His feet. If you ever tried to get a child's attention in a room filled with other kids, you know this can be a momentous task. Erect a stage and have a puppet pop-up and begin bringing the message of new life - to life and you will see every child's eye fixed on that little cloth face.

It is a mystery how a small piece of material constructed just right can open a child's heart to God's love, yet it does. That is why this team loves what they do. His Hands performs with the desire to see children impacted for a lifetime!

His Hands team members: William Haard, Kourtney Martin, Wilhelm Peters, Rachel Raborn, Bethany Siegmund, Elisabeth Vonn and Patrick Weed.

Sharing the message of New Life through drama!

NEW LIFE TROUPE

This unique drama team uses a variety of creative sketches to direct their audience to the Master of all creativity. One minute you will be laughing so much your side hurts, the next, a tear has formed in the corner of your eye. Their goal? Balance the emotional with intellectual.

New Life Troupe team: Erin Barbour, Sherry Bowdler, Joshua Clark, Lindsay Downey, Amanda Edens, Charlene Frizzel and Damien Morand.

Tickets to Jerusalem

Tickets to Jerusalem is an acoustic rock band that also leads contemporary praise and worship. Since their beginning a year ago, they have traveled throughout South Carolina playing for churches, youth groups, and the public. Their heart is to bring people before the throne of God through their music.

Ticket to Jerusalem members are: Ashley Ford, Ashely Newton, Matthew Shaw, Levi Speights, Zach Speights, and Andy Shire.

H o d g e P o d g e

Using a "hodge podge" of performing arts, sign language, black light interpretations, drama sketches and music, this team is unique in their presentation of the gospel. They lift the heart and renew the mind with their challenging blend of the performing arts.

Hodge Podge members are Loquanda Brannon, Matt Damore, Grace Goodhew, Christina Greene, Tim Jackson, Lourie Kennedy, Charis Markle, Esther Merriken and Dana Rosado

THREADS

Threads is a team that performs a one-act play with musical interludes, incorporating the use of interpretation and musical drama. This year's play, Hanging by a Moment, was written by a CIU student. The play touches on some serious subjects and is geared to touch the hearts of middle school and high school students.

Threads includes the following CIU students:
Melody Davis, Shannon Diller, Jay Elkins, Chad
Escue, Heidi Krout, Amy Wilson and David Patten.

AGAPETOS

Agapetos, Beloved of God, includes: Julie Crowe, Melissa Foss, Heather Lundman, Joel Merritt, Kristen Metzler and Casey Walton

Ambassador Singers

Mr. Jim Gill, Director

The Ambassador Singers is a unique blend of voices that are not only trained to sing but trained to sing unto the Lord. During each concert you will hear melodies that vocalize how God has blessed His people with abundant life. Don't be fooled, these singers are armed with the truth of God, ready and willing to share it as well.

The Finial 2001/2002

A Frame in Time

Christie Lomas chauffeurs Dr. Murray around in the finest motorcade...John Deere. We accept nothing less than the best for our President.

Students pitched in to make each event during the year a success. There are those who have memories from these events that will be recalled in 20 years at Homecoming.

This year's Finial theme became more apparent then first imagined. Past frames in time include the Kennedy assassination, Armstrong walking on the moon, the Challenger disaster, the O.J. verdict, and the gulf war. This year we added our own frame in time, the Attack on America. Do you remember where you were on 9/11? There are other frames in time from this past year. What was your "Frame in Time," the Winter Olympics, the home going of Pat Bradley, World Christian Week, Graduation?

Each of us will have our own memories from this year. There are joyful memories, sad memories and there are bitter sweet memories. We have captured in our mind certain events that will characterize this year in our life. Many frames flood the mind as events of the past year are recalled. So much has happened this year, yet as time goes by and memories begin to fade there will always be a few "Frames in Time" captured in our minds that will never fade to remind us of this year.
